Audition

- 25 schools use the audition admissions method, including LaGuardia
 - All high school audition programs accept virtual auditions via the “Additional Materials” section of MySchools.
 - Some high schools may also offer an in-person option. A list of these programs will be available by Oct. 1 at schools.nyc.gov/HSAuditions. Schools may also choose to conduct call backs, time permitting.
 - Auditions will consist of the same components whether they are virtual or in person.
 - Common audition components are listed on our website schools.nyc.gov/HSAuditions.

Educational Option (Ed. Opt.)

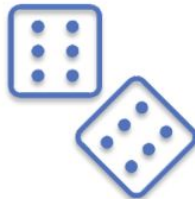

- Each student receives an Ed Opt category based on their average final 7th grade report card grades.
- Based on these grades, students are assigned a category: High, Middle, Low
- 1/3 of offers are made to students in each category
 - Students without grades will fall into the middle category.
 - Ed. Opt categories update when screened admissions groups update

Open and Zoned

Students are randomly selected based on preference order as indicated on students' submitted application

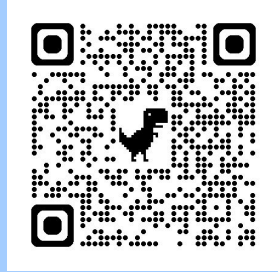

If there are more applicants than available seats, offers are made using students' pre-determined random number which can be found in Myschools.

For Zoned programs: Students are considered for offers based on where they live, if a student has a zoned high school, it will be listed in their Myschools profile

To fall into the top __% of applicants citywide...	An applicant needs average core course grades of at least:
Top 15% (Group 1)	94.25
Top 30% (Group 2)	89.75
Top 50% (Group 3)	82.75
Top 70% (Group 4)	76.25
Group 5	All else

Please note: There are two screened admission methods - Screened and Screened with Assessments

Screened

- For Fall 2025 admissions, screened programs will continue to admit the top-performing applicants from across each middle school and citywide.
- Students fall into a screened admissions groups based on the average of their final prior year core course grades (ELA, Math, Science, Social Studies).
- Students will be admitted to screened programs in group order, starting with students in group one.
- If there are more applicants in group one than available seats, students from group one will be randomly selected for seats using the random number linked to each applicant's application.

Screened with Assessments

- A small number of high schools also require applicants to complete a school-based assessment, such as an essay or interview. A list of these schools can be found at schools.nyc.gov/AssessmentHS.
- How and what to submit to complete the assessment will be available on each school's website and the HS assessments page
 - These programs will use their individual rubric to score students
 - The score will determine the ranking of each student at that program
 - Students receive a final score of 0-100 to be evaluated for offers. Some assessment programs use course grades AND assessments, and in these cases, you can view how much each contributes to the students' final score at the website above.

Offer Chances

NEW!

MySchools now projects for each applicant if they have a low, medium, or high chance of getting an offer to high school programs.

Next slide for more details

Additional Application Choices

NEW!

This year there is no limit to how many programs a student can list.

A balanced application recommends 12 programs (a mix of admission methods). We recommend a minimum of 8 programs to ensure the highest possibility of admission into a school of your choice.

Offer Chances

When a high school applicant starts their application in MySchools they will be able to see their predicted chance of getting an offer in two places: the search page and the application builder.

A "high" icon showing three orange bars means that a student is expected to have a high chance of receiving an offer to this program. Students have a 99% chance of receiving an offer to a program that shows three bars.

A "medium" icon showing two orange bars means that the student is expected to have a medium chance of receiving an offer to this program. About half of students will receive an offer to a program that shows two bars.

A "low" icon showing just one orange bar means that the student is expected to have a low chance of receiving an offer to this program. Students have a 1% chance of receiving an offer to a program that shows one bar.
